To stimulate the Malaysian economy and heighten the application of high-technology, numerous incentives are available to both local and foreign investors. These incentives are attractive as they offer tax exemption particularly to those in specialised industries which either use or manufacture advanced systems, processes, and equipment.

Categories of Strategic Activities and High-tech Products include:

1. MSC Malaysia
For businesses located in Cybercity/Cybercentre and even outside, tax benefits are granted to those related to information technology systems and innovation
2. Biotechnology
Qualifying activities in this sector include industrial biotechnology, healthcare biotechnology, agricultural biotechnology, and biodiagnostics
3. Aerospace Industry
Activities include design, construction, and maintenance of related products such as aircraft, communication and navigation systems, and MRO support groups
4. Automotive Industry
Manufacture of value-added parts and components like transmission, brake, and steering systems, and hybrid or electric vehicles
5. Manufacturing Sector
Promoted activities would comprise processing agricultural produce, manufacture of pharmaceuticals, petrochemicals, machinery, and electronic products. Halal Food Production will also be examined
6. Small Scale Companies
This sector includes agriculture and related processing, iron and steel products, chemicals and pharmaceuticals, textiles, and electrical/electronic components

The seminar would also include the following:

- i. Review and definitions of related sub-activities within the above sectors
- ii. Explanations on qualifying activities and the various incentives available
- iii. Comparative study of Pioneer Status, Reinvestment Allowance and Investment Tax Allowance
- iv. Examples and Computations with Case
