Question 1

ABC Sdn Bhd ("ABC"), a shopping mall operator in Malaysia, has recently acquired a plot of land and intends to build a shopping mall on the said land. However, ABC has insufficient funds to construct the mall and has approached SSS Sdn Bhd ("SSS") for financial assistance.

SSS is a company incorporated in Malaysia, with a parent company in Japan, providing leasing and hire purchase services in Malaysia.

One of the viable options which ABC is considering is to have SSS provide property leasing services to ABC as a form of financing.

Under this financing option, ABC will enter into an agreement with SSS where ABC will sublease the land to SSS. SSS will then construct the mall as per ABC's requirements and lease the mall (land and constructed shopping mall) to ABC upon completion of the construction.

Under the agreement between ABC and SSS, the lease term is for 10 years. Upon the completion of the lease term, the land and the mall will be returned to ABC. SSS is agreeable to this as their role in this transaction is merely to provide finance. SSS will only assume the financial risk and rewards relating to the lease payments. SSS will not be assuming any risk pertaining to the property including the construction risk of the building. ABC will bear the risk of construction risk and obsolescence of the building. All the repairs, maintenance costs and the insurance are to be borne by ABC.

From accounting perspective, the lease transaction will be treated as a finance lease. An extract of the forecast annual lease payment and the profit and loss accounts of SSS in relation to the transaction are enclosed below:

Annual lease payment (RM'000)	(Year) Y1	Y2	Y3	Y4	Y5	Y6	Y7	Y8	Y9	Y10	Total
Interest portion	16,000	15,200	14,300	13,400	12,100	10,800	9,300	7,500	5,600	3,500	107,700
Principal portion	10,700	11,500	12,400	16,600	18,800	18,900	23,600	26,000	27,300	34,000	199,800
Lease payment	26,700	26,700	26,700	30,000	30,900	29,700	32,900	33,500	32,900	37,500	307,500

Profit and Loss: Accounting (RM'000)	(Year) Y1	Y2	Y3	Y4	Y5	Y6	Y7	Y8	Y9	Y10	Total
Finance lease charges	16,000	15,200	14,300	13,400	12,100	10,800	9,300	7,500	5,600	3,500	107,700
Expense	13,000	12,000	11,500	10,500	9,500	8,500	7,500	6,000	4,500	2,500	85,500
Profit before tax	29,000	27,200	25,800	23,900	21,600	19,300	16,800	13,500	10,100	6,000	193,200

In order to fund the construction of the mall, a loan will be given by SSS's parent company in Japan to SSS. A loan agreement will be entered into between SSS and the parent company in Malaysia and the monies would be used to construct the mall. SSS's parent company in Japan does not have any presence in Malaysia and is subject to Japan taxation rules.
